CPD Programme

Continuing Professional Development (CPD) is a process by which individuals take control of their own learning and development, by engaging in an on-going process of reflection and action. It assists the medical professionals to keep them up-to date to converge the necessity of the patient and health care services and to upgrade their knowledge, skill and attitude. The Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic has caused an unprecedented disruption in medical education. Seminars were not organized in Enam Medical College during the period of September 2020 to December 2020 due to safety issues.

CME Programme

To enhance communication skill in teaching and learning and efficiency of judgment of teachers, especially the freshly appointed teachers in the assessment in examinations and to improve medical teaching standard of teachers by refreshing knowledge, skill and attitude, continued medical education (CME) programmes are very much needed. It is also essential to make them oriented with the updating of education system, teaching and research methodology and to share experience and views of senior faculties. In these perspectives, medical education Unit of Enam Medical College is arranging teaching and learning session for all teachers of the college every two months. The COVID-19 pandemic has affected healthcare systems worldwide. The disruption to hospital routines has affected continuing medical education also. Programmes had switched to videoconferencing to maintain teaching. Some programmes also utilized small group teachings with precautions and e-learning modules. Teachers actively participated in these sessions.
